It was Liebig who formerly said that the Tripod of Life consists of the brain, the heart, and the lungs. This may be conceded. But the tripod must have a basis for its support. Surely this consists of the stomach, or rather the alimentary canal of which the stomach is but a specialized portion. The brain, heart and lungs cannot work without energy; and, equally with other parts of the body, these organs will fail in the performance of their functions if they be not supplied with food. The alimentary canal is the laboratory in which is prepared the material to supply the organism with food and its complicated machinery with energy. Therefore, whatever disturbs the stomach shakes the foundation on...
